Questions and Answers

Does Libi-Tight have any side effects?

No, side effects have not been reported related to the use of Libi-Tight.

Can Libi-Tight be used to treat discomfort from childbirth?

Yes, Libi-Tight may be used to aid in healing vaginal abrasions associated with childbirth, such as small tears.

Does Libi-Tight contain any hormones or parabens?

No, Libi-Tight does not contain any hormones or parabens.

How does hyaluronic acid work?

Hyaluronic acid significantly hydrates the tissue by drawing and retaining moisture in the vaginal environment. It has also been shown to accelerate the healing process mainly by facilitating cell transportation of essential nutrients. Because of this, hyaluronic acid helps to combat vaginal dryness, along with associated symptoms of itching and irritation, and/or pain during sexual intercourse.

Who can benefit from using Libi-Tight?

- Menopausal women
- Women who should not or choose not to take hormone replacement therapy.
- Women who have recently given birth or who are breast-feeding.
- Women taking oral contraceptives.
- Women with certain medical conditions who may experience vaginal dryness.

Will Libi-Tight make intimacy more enjoyable?

When used regularly, Libi-Tight replenishes the natural vaginal moisture, making intimacy more enjoyable. The formula delivers long-lasting moisture so intercourse can be more comfortable.

How is Libi-Tight different from vaginal lubricants on the market?

A lubricant is not necessarily a moisturizer. Lubricants are normally used during intercourse to help a woman that is not able to produce enough of her own vaginal moisture to comfortably (and painlessly) engage in intercourse. Libi-Tight is a moisturizing lubricant, which has the same effect as lubricants when applied before intercourse, but it improves vaginal hydration and decreases feelings of dryness, itching, and burning. In addition, Libi-Tight contains other ingredients to help restore the vaginal tissues, increase arousal and libido, and provide tightening effect.

How is Libi-Tight Gel used?

- For dryness & itchiness: Apply 2 ml of Libi-Tight gel using the applicator twice daily for 10 days.
- For tightening and improving intimate experience: Apply 2 ml of Libi-Tight gel using the applicator 30 minutes before the intimate experience.
- For vaginal tissue restoration: Apply 2 ml of Libi-Tight gel using the applicator twice daily for 20 days.

What else can be done to prevent vaginal dryness?

Vaginal dryness can be aggravated by soaps, perfumes, and other chemicals such as bath oils and shower gels. Disinfectants and antiseptics could also cause discomfort so it is best to avoid using anything other than warm water or a soap-free intimate wash for vaginal hygiene.

How should I store Libi-Tight Gel?

Libi-Tight gel should be stored in a cool, dry place below 30°C. It should also be kept out of reach of children.
